

Amid the coronavirus crisis and the prospect now faced by islanders of many hours cooped up at home, the Consell de Formentera has unveiled a new profile on Facebook serving up information about culture, the arts, sport, the environment, music, literature, history and general entertainment. The distinct areas of local government have pledged to post their own contributions to make isolation a little more manageable.

The Consell wishes to applaud islanders once again for their patience and collaboration. To tune in to the latest social-networking offerings, type “Formentera es queda a casa” [Formentera is staying home] in the Facebook search bar and click ‘like’.

Together we'll make it!
