

The Department of Culture reports that this Friday 18 September, Formentera families can see David Novell and Monma Mingot’s production of Contes d’Àfrica, a smattering of stories issued from the African continent and dreamt up under the shade of the great baobab tree.

Members of Clownidoscopio Teatre, a family stage troupe founded on Eivissa in 2009, Novell and Mingot deliver a show that comes to life with fresh, plainspoken language, clownery, physical theatre and music.

Contes d’Àfrica will start at 6.30pm in the patio of Sa Senieta (Sant Francesc). Capacity restrictions will be in place and public health measures enforced, and the audience is asked to arrive roughly 15 minutes before showtime.
