

The Formentera Office of Mobility reports that two number plate-reading cameras have been installed at the roundabout near Formentera Hospital to ensure that vehicles driven on the island during the formentera.eco enforcement period 15 June to 15 September are properly accredited.

There are two more control cameras near the entrance to the island on Carrer Almadrava, and a Consell vehicle (100% electric) equipped with two cameras that will also patrol the island. The cameras scan number plates and check if there is an associated formentera.eco authorisation on file for the vehicle in question.

"With these new cameras we want to expand surveillance to ensure compliance with the regulatory scheme now in its fourth year", explained Rafael González, councillor of mobility. By law, individuals operating vehicles without an associated authorisation face minimum fines of €1,000.
