The Office of Culture of the Consell de Formentera is pleased to report that on Saturday 17 December, an evening of concerts will take place at Sa Senieta festival tent in Sant Francesc. The programme starts at 7.00pm with Red Hot Chiki Covers, a concert by Red Hot Chili Covers geared specially toward kids. Later, the group will return to the stage for a performance for the general public before turning things over at 10.30pm to acclaimed Catalan group Doctor Prats.

Susana Labrador, councillor of culture and festivities, characterised the musical bill as offering "something for everyone" and invited all of Formentera to join in on the fun. "These shows are one of the first highlights of the Christmas holidays", she asserted.

Red Hot Chili Covers
Gabi Codina (drums), Gabi Diaz (vocals), Lluís Riera (bass) and Jordi Sánchez (guitar) formed Red Hot Chili Covers, a Red Hot Chili Peppers tribute band, in 2014. With over 25 years of show business experience in distinct musical outfits, the band put on a dynamic, forceful and entertaining show evoking the best songs of the Californian kingpins that will celebrate their 40-year anniversary in 2023. Red Hot Chili Covers is, according to its members, "world-class Chili Peppers, but local". Red Hot Chiki Covers, the group's early evening show, will see the band playing a setlist of child-friendly material.
